

Senior Management Commitment

The senior management of Cahoon Farms Inc. is aware that food safety and quality is ultimately their responsibility. Therefore, senior management is thoroughly committed to providing our customers with safe, quality food by financially supporting and guiding the development, implementation, and maintenance efforts of the corporation in food safety, quality and continuous improvement for the products produced.

The methods used to accomplish the commitment include:

- Providing the necessary staff to accomplish all tasks associated with the implementation and maintenance of the food safety and quality plans.
- Provide the necessary training needed to implement, maintain, and carry out all food safety and quality plans.
- Provide needed resources to implement, maintain and maintain all HACCP/ Preventive Control Plans, which include validation and verification of those programs:
- Provide the needed resources to meet all regulatory and customer requirements.

The organization is committed to establish and review food safety and quality objectives annually.

Once signed, this commitment will be posted and communicated to all employees.
